

Cicak, cicak / Lizard on the wall

This popular Indonesian children's song can be used as a hand play.

I was delighted to come across this song as it revived a memory from the past. As a young child in Malaya I watched house lizards scamper on the wall, I think we called them 'Chit chats' – must ask my brother who has a far better memory. They were much appreciate as they went after other pesky inhabitants of the house such as mosquitoes and ants that would often bothered us.

- 1.&2. Creep fingers up child's arm.
3. Tip of thumb and finger buzzes near ear.
4. Forefinger tongue uncurls and pops 'mosquito' in palm of hand.
5. Hand 'mouth' opens and closes.

Lizard, lizard on the wall,
Watch it quietly creep and crawl,
Mosquito buzzes;
Lizard jumps!
SNAP!
Mosquito for lunch! (3x)
