The dolphins' lullaby

To a baby whale and other children.
There are many heartwarming videos to be seen online but the one of a large pod of dolphins surrounding a mother whale giving birth in False Bay to protect her little one from a group of marauding sharks really captures the attention:
whale giving birth in Falsebay protected by dolphins (youtube.com)
It encouraged me to write this lulllaby. Such intelligent creatures; I imagined they would also do the same for a human or any other child.
Words and music by Dany Rosevear.

My dear one, my lovely,
Sweet child of the sea,
May kindness surround you,
Wherever you be.
Chorus:
May your life be long,
One of peace, joy and song;
Lullaby-a-loolay, lullaby lee.
Lullaby-a-loolay, lullaby lee.
Lullaby-a-loolay, lullaby lee.

Our wishes are many,
Our thoughts speed you on,
Through world's wide, wild oceans,
Be playful, have fun. Chorus

My dear ones, sweet children,
Of land, air or sea,
Remember you're precious,
And as loved as can be. Chorus