

A fish story

It was how big?! A little action story about a big whale.

Not sure if this was written or translated by Susanna Myers as it is listed as a Polish folk song. It is from “A child’s book of songs” by Robert Foresman published 1928.

Mime fishing, move hands apart in increments until thoroughly stretched. Tap head, cross hands at wrists and flap. Nod, stretch again.

When I was fish - ing I saw a big fish, A big one I tell you a ver - y big, big fish! Oh, this was its size from its head to its tail — I think it quite like - ly that it was a whale!

When I was fishing I saw a big fish,
A big one, I tell you, a very big, big fish!
Oh, this was its size, from its head to its tail –
I think it quite likely that it was a whale!
