

A little star / The stars, moon and me

<https://riverofsong.uk/>

*Try the impossible for dreams do sometimes come true;
a simple action song.*

Find the original verse in 'Child-land in song and rhythm'

Words: Florence Newell Barbour 1866 – 1946.

Music and last two verses by Dany Rosevear.

Verse 1. Reach high into the air and try on tip toes to catch with your hand.

Jump twice with vigour, and spread out arms , move around flapping.

Verse 2. As before then make climbing action. Put hands on hips and look puzzled. Walk around with hand to forehead. Shrug and throw hands out.

Verse 3. Crouch down with hands to cheek. Jump up high hands together like a rocket. Dance round alone, with a partner or in threes.

I tried to catch a little star,
But, oh! I could not reach so far!
I jumped and jumped, I tried to fly,
But still I could not reach the sky.

I tried to catch a little star,
But, oh! I could not reach so far!
I jumped and jumped, I tried to fly,
But still I could not reach the sky.

I tried to visit the Man in the Moon,
But, oh! He disappeared too soon.
I searched and searched the skies round,
But still that moon could not be found.

I went to bed when the night time came,
And, oh! The moon was there again!
Off into dreamland I did fly,
Where the stars, moon and me danced way up so high.
