

The tree in the wood

<https://riverofsong.uk/>

A folk song for young children from 'Music for the nursery school' published in 1935 adapted, by Lina Chesterman. You can find the traditional cumulative version of this at: <https://youtu.be/nUb9DFwNGjE>

Adaptation and movements by Dany Rosevear. 1. Make a tree shape with arms, wave from side to side. Chorus: Wiggle fingers above and around head. 2. Open and close finger beak. 3. Form nest with cupped hands. 4. Hold up four fingers.

Out in the wood there is a tree, The fin - est tree you e - ver did see, And the green leaves grew all a - round, a - round, a - round, And the green leaves grew all a - round.

Out in the wood there is a tree,
The finest tree you ever did see,
And the green leaves grew all around, around, around,
And the green leaves grew all around.

And in this tree there is a bird,
The finest bird you ever did see, Chorus

Up in this tree there is a nest,
The prettiest nest you ever did see, Chorus

And in this nest there are four eggs,
The prettiest eggs you ever did see, Chorus

