

A jewel in the universe

“Hear the stars sing” Imagine the stars could speak...

What might they say? Our planet is unique in the universe; we need to look after it! Written by Dany Rosevear with help and ideas from my eldest grandson. This adapted tune might very well be a familiar one and is very popular with my grandson who hums it all the time and loves to dress up as Darth Vader.

Stars shine, up in the u - ni - verse, Shin - ing so bright - ly, in the dark night.

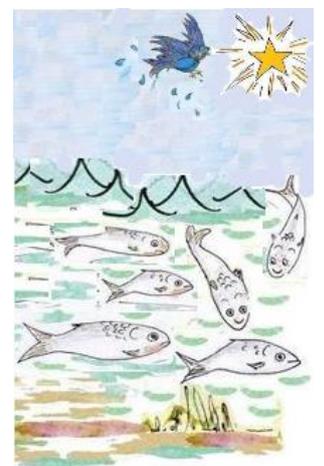

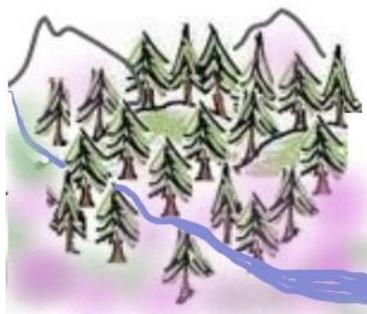

Tell me stars, what can you see up there, Out in the u - ni - verse, all blaz - ing with light?

Shoot - ing stars, com - ets and as - ter - oids, Suns, moons and plan - ets, zoom and spin round.

Great black holes, bil - lions of ga - lax - ies, The won - der - ful Milk - y Way, where Earth can be found.

Stars shine, up in the universe,
Shining so brightly, in the dark night.
Tell me stars, what can you see up there,
Out in the universe, all blazing with light?
Shooting stars, comets and asteroids,
Suns, moons and planets, zoom and spin round.
Great black holes, billions of galaxies,
The wonderful Milky Way, where Earth can be found.

Stars shine, up in the universe
Shining so brightly, in the dark night.
Tell me stars, what can you see down here,
Down on our lovely Earth, our own paradise?
Oceans blue, forests and islands green,
Ice caps and glaciers, mountains sky high,
Volcanos, rivers and waterfalls,
A jewel in the universe just teeming with life.

Stars shine, up in the universe,
Shining so brightly, in the dark night.
Tell me stars, what must we do down here,
Down on our lovely Earth, to keep it's delights?
Take good care, care of your neighbourhoods,
Wasting less water, recycle and mend,
Plant a tree, use clean energy,
Travel responsibly with family and friends.

Little jewel, our jewel in the universe,
We've now heard the stars sing, twinkle and sing;
We've listened well, we'll do what we can to help,
Keeping our Earth home safe, for all living things,
For all living things. Spoken: For you and me!
