

Be happy, be happy, today!

<https://riverofsong.uk/>

Seasonal reasons to be cheerful.

A song written in 1935 and published in 'The nursery song and picture book' published in 1947. Words and music by Miriam Drury.

The seasonal lines below were written by Dany Rosevear.

Some might prefer the simple original verse:

I saw a bird in the top of a tree, This is the song he was singing to me,
"God loves us all in a wonderful way, Be happy, be happy today."

I saw a bird in the top of a tree, This is the song it was sing - ing to me: "The world is a-wake and the sun's out to play: Be hap- py, be hap- py, to - day, ___
Be hap- py, be hap- py, to - day!" ___

I saw a bird in the top of a tree,
This is the song it was singing to me,
"The world is awake and the sun's out to play:
Be happy, be happy today,
Be happy, be happy today!"

I saw a bird in the top of a tree,
This is the song it was singing to me,
"Lovely Autumn has come, watch the leaves fly away:
Be happy, be happy today..."

I saw a bird in the top of a tree,
This is the song it was singing to me,
"The snow fell all night, soft and white as it lay,
Be happy, be happy today..."

I saw a bird in the top of a tree,
This is the song it was singing to me,
"Now Springtime has come, all the flowers smile and say:
Be happy, be happy today..."