

Do you know the trees by name?

<https://riverofsong.uk/>

'Naming the trees'. In the Spring watch in wonder as the leaves unfurl and trees are decked in catkins, pussy willow and blossom.

All children should be able to identify some of the more common trees – it will stay with them for life. Go on nature walks along country lanes, visit woodlands or just the park in town. Play I-Spy trees and make collections.

By Rebecca B Foresman from 'The music hour, one-book course' McConathy, Miessner, Birge and Bray, Silver Burdett and Co., 1932.

Do you know the trees by name, When you see them grow - ing,
In the fields or in the woods? They are well worth know - ing.

The musical score is written on two staves in G major (one sharp) and 2/4 time. The first staff contains the first line of the song with chords D, A7, D, D, A7, and D above the notes. The second staff contains the second line with chords G, D, A7, and D above the notes.

Do you know the trees by name
When you see them growing
In the fields or in the woods?
They are well worth knowing.

Watch them in the early spring,
When their buds are swelling;
Watch each tiny little leaf
Leave its little dwelling.

Watch them later, when their leaves
Everywhere are showing;
Soon you'll know the different trees
When you see them growing.
