<https://rivzrofsong.uk/>

A playful nursery rhyme.

An introduction to the concept of a cow and her baby which could lead to finding out more about other animals and their offspring.

Collected by James Orchard Halliwell for the Nursery rhymes of England, published 1886.

I had a little cow;
Hey-diddle, ho-diddle!

I had a little cow, and it had a little calf,
Hey-diddle, ho-diddle; and there's my song half.

I had a little cow;
Hey-diddle, ho-diddle!

I had a little cow, and I drove it to the stall;
Hey-diddle, ho-diddle; and there's my song all!
