

Since others do so much for me

Pass happiness on.

Appreciate what is provided and given to us in so many ways and to do the same to make the lives of others happy.

You can see the results of such thoughtfulness in the help and acts of kindness given freely to refugees from the Ukraine in Europe and beyond. This song is appropriate in community settings at Thanksgiving, harvest festival and other times of thankfulness.

Words by Vincent B. Stillman to an American folk tune. From 'Exploring music 1' published in 1966.

Since oth - ers do so much for me, I, too, will free - ly give, And help to fill with hap - pi - ness This world in which I live.

Since others do so much for me,
I, too will freely give,
And help to fill with happiness
This world in which I live.
