

The weather witch

<https://riverofsong.uk/>

A song for sailors.

I found this song in BBC Radio for schools Time and Tune: Spring term 1966. Cannot find out much more about it though it can supposedly be sung as a round.

The musical score is written on three staves in 2/4 time. The first staff begins with a Dm chord and contains the lyrics: 'Blow wind, blow wind!' cried three men to - ge - ther; Nay, nay, nay, wind,'. The second staff starts with an A chord, followed by Dm and Bb chords, with lyrics: sang the Witch of Wea - ther. In their cob - ble sat those sai - lors. The third staff starts with an A chord, followed by Dm and A chords, with lyrics: three - oh; Till the wind blows, they'll not go to sea - oh.

‘Blow wind, blow wind!’ cried three men together;
‘Nay, nay, nay wind,’ sang the Witch of Weather.
In their cobbles sat those sailors three-o;
Till the wind blows, they’ll not go to sea-oh.
