

Among the Autumn leaves

<https://riverofsong.uk/>

Make the most of the mellow days of Autumn by getting outside as much as possible before cold winter descends.

Move to this joyful music by Eunice Close 'Here we come a-haying' from an early copy of Child Education; I must do her poem when Summer comes round once more. Autumn verses are by Dany Rosevear.

It would be lovely to move to the chorus with Autumn coloured scarves.

Here we come a-jumping,
A-laughing, a-leaping,
Here we come a-dancing,
Among the Autumn leaves.

We'll pick apples down the lanes,
Where we'll go exploring,
Jump off haystacks, gather nuts
Before Winter's winds come calling.
