

Hurry, hurry, hurry, hurry!

<https://riverofsong.uk/>

A campfire song to get everyone out of bed in the morning or awake, up and ready to do the chores. Not sure where I originally found this song and whether I set it to a tune or not, the memory is a fragile thing and search machines not as perfect as they would seem! I have however adapted the few words I've found to make a song that I hope hangs together.

Hurry, hurry, hurry, hurry, come on the run,
Hurry, hurry, hurry, hurry, day has begun.
Come along and hurry there is work to be done,
When you are finished there'll be time for fun!

Get along you sleepyhead and get on the run,
Must you be so slow and lazy? Day is begun!
If you do not finish with the work to be done,
You can't go out to play and have some fun!

All right I'm coming now, all right I'll come,
No need to hurry now and no need to run,
It is far too early and where is the sun?
I am so tired that I can't run, run, run!
