An old playground favourite we chanted in the 1950s.

Adapted for Halloween by Dany Rosevear.

Make up your own colour rhymes– the possibilities are endless!

Mis - sis White had a fright, in the mid - dle of the night.
Saw a ghost, eat - ing toast, half way up a lamp — - post.

Mrs White had a fright, in the middle of the night.
She saw a ghost, eating toast, half way up a lamp-post.

Mrs Red went to bed, with a pumpkin on her head,
Saw two bats, chase a cat, right into her pointy hat.

Mrs Black in a mac, eating hop toads for a snack.
Saw a witch, in a fix, sitting in a muddy ditch.

Mrs Green on Halloween, went to supper with the queen.
Saw a spider, in her cider, oh dear me it's now inside her.

Mrs Blue, yes it's true, threw snails in a witchy brew.
Added stones, gave a groan, stirred it with a finger bone.

Mrs Pink gave a wink, drank a drink of fizzy ink.
Saw a wizard, in a blizzard, turning hailstones into lizards.
