A little angel all alone, Is sitting on a cloud,
Weeping, wailing, So very, very loud.

Your friends have flown but jump up now, And wipe those tears away,
For down on earth a shepherd child Needs helping out today.

See the little shepherd child, Sitting on a stone,
Crying, weeping, Like you he's all alone;

He'd slept that night the angels came, With news from lands afar
And woke to find his friends were gone, A-following a star.

“Jump up little shepherd child, Come along with me,
Together we shall travel And merry we shall be!
Hold my hand, the road is long, To Bethlehem we'll go;
We'll find a baby lying there. Sweet whispers tell me so!”

In Bethlehem they found the babe, The shepherds and three kings,
“You're not too late,” the angels sang, “Come in, come in, come in!”
Mary said, “Draw closer now, Stay here for a while,
Sing your songs and lullabies; Just look! My baby claps and smiles!”
