

Tree of hope

<https://rivgrofsong.uk/>

'A tree of hope' is often used by charities to raise the profile of those in need. This song was inspired by an Ukranian arts project I pass on my way to swim, where a tree of hope stood in the window. It recognises the valuable efforts of volunteers who bring hope to many each day. The tree symbolises the resilience and kindness within every person, while the dove represents our inner conscience that inspires hope whenever we come together to discuss injustice and support one another. Words and music by Dany Rosevear.

There's a tree, a might - ty tree, A tree of hope where you can find; A stead - fast strength and com - fort Seek - ing good for ev - 'ry kind. Way up high in its branches Sits a lit - tle white dove, Gath - er round and lis - ten well,
For it speaks of peace and love. For it speaks of peace and love.

There's a tree, a mighty tree,
A tree of hope where you can find;
A steadfast strength and comfort
Seeking good for every kind.

Way up high in its branches
Sits a little white dove,
Gather round and listen well,
For it speaks of peace and love.

Gather round and listen well,
For it speaks of peace and love.
