

Here comes a toad

<https://riverofsong.uk/>

A job done together is lighter by half. A little story to dramatize and act out different emotions and appreciate how lovely it is to help others. Take turns to be frog or toad. Meeting and greeting can be done in ways ensuring that others feel comfortable, a high five or a hand shake might be more appropriate. Words and music by Dany Rosevear.

Here comes a toad, a toad, a toad, A toad in a load of trouble; There's a sack on his back, it's heavy and fat And now he has stepp'd in a puddle. A long comes a friend, so this is - n't the end For dear frog - gie gives him a cud - dle. As they go on their way they have plen - ty to say And the sack is no long - er a strug - gle!

Here comes a toad, a toad, a toad,
A toad in a load of trouble;
There's a sack on his back, it's heavy and fat
And now he has stepped in a puddle. SPLASH!

Along comes a friend so this isn't the end
For dear froggie gives him a cuddle.
As they go on their way they have plenty to say
And the sack is no longer a struggle!
