

Beginning to grow

<https://rivzrofsong.uk/>

An enchanting start to Spring.

Written by Annette Wynne. From 'The Music Hour' published in 1929.

Adapted and music written by Dany Rosevear.

Interpret the song expressively using hand movements.

A fair - y wakes and starts to sing, As life stirs down — be - low; And ev - 'ry seed says, "Why, it's Spring, I guess its time — to grow!"

A fairy wakes and starts to sing,
As life stirs down below;
And every seed says, "Why, it's Spring,
I guess it's time to grow!"
And every seed says, "Why, it's Spring,
I guess it's time to grow!"
