

Little bird on my window

This old Irish song has been sung in the U.S.A. by grandparents and in schools there. You will see on my video I have added a little whistling interlude; a snatch of "Wiegenlied" by Johannes Brahms it just arose when practicing and felt as if it was always there. Interestingly I have seen the basic tune of this song described as a German folk tune. Recent research suggests this melody did indeed come from Germany 'Kommt ein Vogel geflogen' / 'A Bird Comes A-flying' as do many nursery rhymes and childrens' songs sung in the English language.

Lit - tle bird on my win - dow, Won't you sing me a song?
As you fly o - ver mead - ows, Won't you bring me a - long?

Little bird on my window,
Won't you sing me a song?
As you fly over meadows
Won't you bring me along?

There are beautiful flowers
To be seen from up high,
Won't you please take me with you,
Little bird as you fly.

Little bird on my window
May your song never end,
I will tell you a secret,
You're my very best friend.
