

An insect jamboree

<https://riverofsong.uk/>

*A homage to our flying garden friends. And a change of heart.
Words and music by Dany Rosevear.*

G D7 G D7

But - ter - flies are bet - ter bugs than an - y one of these: Blue bot - tles and fleas,

G D7 G

ev - en bum - ble bees, They may not buzz like hor - net does, make hon - ey from the

G C G D7 G D7 G

flow'rs; But our fra - gile friends they cheer no end each pre - cious gar - den hour.

Butterflies are better bugs than any one of these:

Blue bottles and fleas, even bumble bees;

They may not buzz like hornet does, make honey from the flow'rs;

But our fragile friends they cheer no end our precious garden hours.

Mosquitoes, midges, moths indeed cannot quite compare

With butterfly so fair, in the summer air.

Damselflies and dragonflies they shimmer so I'm told,

But butterfly is pure delight with a beauty to behold.

Just watch them chase with gentle grace then settle one by one,

On flowers in the sun, sip nectar 'til day's done,

But ladybird and all the rest we love their company,
For a happy garden needs a world of every kind you see;

For a happy garden we all need an insect jamboree.

