

Sounds of Autumn

<https://riverofsong.uk/>

Change is in the air. A hand play that would work well accompanied by percussion instruments. Words and music by Dany Rosevear.

Verse 1. Wave imaginary baton. Hands undulate across each other. 2. Hands drift downwards. Rub palms together. 3. Nibble food. Interweave fingers to make hedgehog. 4. Fists roll. Fists bang together. 5. Pick berries and eat. Eat apples. 6. Wiggle fingers and make little clapping noises. Shoot hands into the air. 7. Roll arms.

Autumn sang a song for me, it sang a song for you,
The wind joined in so merrily, "Whoo-hoo-hoo!"

As leaves came gently drifting down, "Whist, whist, whist!"
All red and gold and yellowed brown, "Swish, swish, swish!"

The squirrels gathered nuts to hide, "Scuffle, scuffle, scuffle!"
While hedgehogs played among the leaves, "Rustle, rustle, rustle!"

Shing conkers fell in spiky shells, "Drop, drop, drop!"
The children came, played conker games, "Knock, knock, knock!"

Ate blackberries, wild nature's food, "Munch, munch, munch!"
And picked up apples from the ground, "Crunch, crunch, crunch!"

Bonfires crackled, popped and roared, in the night,
Fireworks fizzed and whizzed and soared, what a sight!

Autumn sang a song for us, it sang with gusty glee,
The children whirled and twirled and laughed, joyfully!
