A beautiful lullaby.

This song was published in the 'American Primary Teacher' magazine in October 1911 and was credited to Alys Eliza Bentley's song primer 'Play songs' published in 1907; the lovely melody is by Rose Craighill.

Bye low, bye low, Ba - by's in the cra - dle sleep - ing; Tip - toe, tip - toe,
Still as pus - sy sly - ly creep - ing. Bye low, bye low,
Rock the cra - dle, ba - by's wak - ing; Hush, my ba - by, O!

Bye low, bye low,
Baby's in the cradle sleeping;
Tip-toe, tip-toe,
Still as pussy slyly creeping.
Bye low, bye low,
Rock the cradle, baby's waking;
Hush, my baby, O!
Hush, my baby, O!

Bye low, bye low,
Baby's in the cradle sleeping;
I know, I know,
Baby's dreaming, oh, so deep in
Sleep-o, sleep-o,
Time to wake and greet the new day;
Hush, my baby, O!
Hush, my baby, O!

Repeat first verse
