

In a pumpkin patch

<https://riverofsong.uk/>

A song to dramatise and sing individually.

Words by Louise B. Scott, music by Lucille F. Wood.

A seasonal song from one of my favourite collections for young children, 'Singing Fun' published in 1962.

Three little pumpkins lying very still,
In a pumpkin patch on a high, high hill.
This one said, "Oh, I'm very, very, green;
But I'll be orange for Halloween."
This one said, "Oh, me! oh my,
One day I'll be a pumpkin pie."
This one said, "I'm on my way
To be a Jack o' lantern some day."
